

Job's Daughters International Planned Giving Program

Leave a financial legacy for the future of Job's Daughters International

As we face the challenges of the 21st century, we need to find alternative sources of financial assistance to help us sustain our Order for the future generations of young women. Therefore, we have developed a Planned Giving program and invite you to consider participating in the program.

A planned gift is a donor's commitment to benefit Job's Daughters International through a gift that takes effect at death. When you include Job's Daughters International in you will or estate plans you will provide the financial power the organization needs to help future generation of young women and help others receive the same benefits from Job's Daughters International as previous generations of members and adults have.

Planned giving includes Wills, Bequests, Life Insurance policies, IRA and Retirement plans, and Annuities. While providing for your loved ones, a bequest can also include Job's Daughters International.

We are developing a new recognition program for Job's Daughters International. It is suitably named "Legacy Triangle." A planned gift makes you eligible for membership in our Legacy Triangle. The Legacy Triangle will honor individuals and families who have already given and those who have notified Job's Daughters International of their intention to include our organization in their estate plans. Won't you consider becoming a member of this new program?
